

Session B:
Giving Students a Reason to Show Up:
Strategies for Creating Dynamic Face-to-Face Classroom Experiences

Traditional lecture certainly has a place in academia, and in many cases, it is the best approach to deliver information. That said, PowerPoint isn't the only game in town. Students get more out of classes when they connect with the material, the instructor, and one another. This session is designed to highlight techniques for helping students build these connections.

Presenters:

Erin Snyder: Reviving Engagement: Crafting Vibrant Face-to-Face Classroom Experiences

Change is inevitable but doesn't always come easy, especially when you have no idea where to start. Let's talk about how to reimagine the classroom to enhance knowledge retention by capturing attention and focus, fostering critical thinking, and providing tools to push through academic struggles.

Tom Javarinis: Are the Students Physically and Mentally Present in the Classroom?

This presentation will explore different strategies and researched success stories / applications from other faculty around the world who have had wonderful results when it comes to ensure students get the most out of each class meeting.

Erin Chalmers: Escaping Death by PowerPoint: Engaging Students in Non-Traditional Instruction

In this presentation, we'll explore dynamic strategies to rescue medical education from the mundane "Death by PowerPoint" phenomenon. Learn how to inject vitality into the learning experience, embracing non-traditional methods that captivate and inspire the healers of tomorrow.
